

4.4.5: Encyclopedias

Create three  tags linking to three online encyclopedias. Make sure to put this in the <body> section of the web page. Do not use the given examples—make sure to find three different online encyclopedias.

For example:

Encyclopedia Britannica

Wikipedia

MedLine Plus

HINT:

You need to make sure that the links you are linking to start with https:// not http://. Otherwise the links won't load.

This is for security reasons. URLs that start with https:// are secure, and links that start with http:// might not be secure. Pretty cool right? You can learn more about the difference between HTTP and HTTPS here: <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/HTTPS>

Solution Code

```
1  <!DOCTYPE html>
2  <html>
3      <head>
4          <title>Useful Resources</title>
5      </head>
6
7      <body>
8          Encyclopedia Britannica
9
10         Wikipedia
11
12         MedLine Plus
```

HTML

```
13 |
14 |     </body>
15 | </html>
```

Starter Code

```
1 | <!DOCTYPE html>
2 | <html>
3 |     <head>
4 |         <title>Useful Resources</title>
5 |     </head>
6 |
7 |     <body>
8 |         Put links to three encyclopedias here
9 |
10 |     </body>
11 | </html>
```