

4.6.7: Reflection: Why is Copyright Important?

Think of a time you created something you were very proud of. Maybe you wrote a song, a poem, a short story. Maybe you designed and built your own wooden chest or bookshelf. Maybe you made up a game. Maybe you drew or painted a picture.

Now imagine that someone else from your school suddenly showed up with the exact same creation and was showing it off proudly, claiming that they made it.

1. Why is it important to follow copyright license rules?
2. Why is it important that you cite your sources?

Solution Code

```
1 | 1. Why is it important to follow copyright license rules?
2 | 2. Why is it important that you cite your sources?
3 |
4 | Sample Response:
5 |
6 | It is important to follow copyright license rules because the owner and original creator of the work should rec
7 |
8 | It is important to cite your sources so that you give credit to the creator of the artistic work. Citing is als
```

Starter Code

No starter code.